

Letter of Recommendation

It is a great pleasure to recommend Jayce Riegling. I was lucky enough to have Jayce intern for me in the fall of 2022. Jayce went above and beyond in every way and for every project. Jayce has a strong commitment to achieving his dream of becoming a MLBPA agent.

Jayce is not only a hard worker, he is also a critical thinker. He asks great questions, and always comes up with great ideas to improve the work he has been tasked. He is thorough, diligent, and creative. He is a long term thinker. When it comes to the sports agency business, that's exactly what we want and need.

Jayce is super well connected in the baseball world. Jayce goes out of his way daily to network and make strong connections within the industry. He hosts a super successful podcast that has had many stars on it. Jayce has also worked hard to meet owners of bat companies, travel ball organization owners, and MLB scouts and front office members. It is incredible for him to have accomplished what he has at such a young age.

Whoever Jayce ends up working for is going to be incredibly lucky to have him. He is going to be a perfect culture fit, and the exact type of worker you're going to want to have. I have no doubt that Jayce will be incredibly successful in this space.
